They also want the government to build a lunatic asylum for the Northwest and supply funds for its maintenance. Dr. Brett expects the requests will be granted.

Fletcher who murdered Peter Dakota last winter near Battleford was found guilty of manslaughter to-day and sentenced to 20 years imprisonment in the Manitoba penitentiary. The prisoner thanked the judge and jury for their impartiality and the police for their kindness. The names were: John Carney, Dewan, Clouston, MacNeil, Geo. Day and Chas. Smith.

Prongua, Fletcher's employer at the time of the murder, was sentenced to five years imprisonment for cattle stealing. The judge said he would deal severely with him, as it was the first case of the kind tried here.

THE Calgary Herald announces that "The Edmonton BULLETIN is doing all in its power to prevent the building of a railway to Clover Bar, Fort Saskatchewan and other points on the Saskatchewan below Edmonton." If this assertion were made by a reputable paper the BULLETIN would take the trouble to deny it, but as it is only the Herald there is no danger of it being taken seriously by any section of the public.

P. J. NOLAN, Ad. McPherson and W. Burland arrived on Monday's stage. Two days from Calgary. They left Calgary on the Saturday afternoon train for Blind Man which they reached the same evening. They then hustled a rig and caught the stage the same night at Elliott and McCue's, at Wolf Creek. The stage brought them from Wolf Creek in a day and a half, arriving in Edmonton at noon. They left this forenoon.

Grading will be finished to Battle river early next week. #### LAND AGENT.

The office of land agent at Edmonton is now vacant, owing to the death of the late agent P. V. Gauvreau. The duties of the office have been discharged since last fall when Mr. Gauvreau's illness became serious, by R. Ruttan of the commissioner's office in Winnipeg. At a time when the work of the office was heavier than ever before, owing to the greater enquiry for land, and when it was of the highest importance not only to the department but to the general public interested in the settlement of the country that efficient work should be done, Mr. Ruttan has given the utmost satisfaction to all parties. Edmonton is the point of all others in the Northwest that is attracting most attention at present and the department would do wisely to retain Mr. Ruttan's services here for a considerable time yet, or if possible to appoint him permanently.

SURVEYS.

There is a general complaint from land seekers in nearly all sections of the district that the survey stakes cannot be found. The surveys were made in 1882, 1883 and 1884, since which time the lines cut through woods have grown up so that they are very difficult to follow, corner stakes have rotted or burned down and mounds have disappeared—if they ever existed, which is doubtful in many cases. As a rule the surveys were roughly done and many inaccuracies and incomplete lines exist which further confuse the intending homesteader. This state of affairs tends to create dissatisfaction on the part of the men whom the country most needs, and is now in a fair way to get. A land guide, outfitted with surveyors appliances, to accompany homesteaders in their search for the places would meet the difficulty temporarily, but a new survey of many of the already surveyed townships is necessary. The surveys should also be extended east and west from the C. & E. line eastward into the Beaver hills and westward to White Whale lake. Now that immigration to this district has commenced all difficulties in the way of the free choice of land should be as far as possible removed.

CODFISH.

The Newfoundland question is getting more mixed every day. At first the trouble was between the Newfoundland fishermen and French fishermen on the so called French shore. Then Britain stepped in to protect French interests as understood to be guaranteed by treaty. This made a three cornered fight. Newfoundland against Britain for restricting instead of assisting, and France against Britain; for if it were not for the big war ships of the latter the whole of Newfoundland might soon become French shore. Then the Newfoundland government being prevented by the British navy from trying forcible conclusions with the French took a side wind on the question, and passed an act to prevent the sale of bait to the fishermen of other countries which would render profitable fishing by them impossible and destroy the advantage possessed by the French under treaty regarding the French shore. The bait act was aimed solely at the French and a special treaty was made with the United States whereby the sale of bait to fishermen of that country was permitted in consideration of commercial advantages conceded to Newfoundland. Against Canadian fishermen the bait act was not enforced. But Canada objected to the treaty between Newfoundland and the United States and used influence with the British government to have Canadian interests protected. This made the Newfoundlanders mad and Canada was promptly placed on the black list with France. This train of circumstances brought Newfoundland, France, Britain, Canada and the United States at large heads generally over the codfish question, and now the climax is capped by a number of Newfound land fishermen defying the bait act and the armed vessels sent to enforce it and selling bait to the French fishing squadron; bringing the Newfoundland government directly at variance with the very men the protection of whose interests were in the first place the cause of the trouble. The government intends to use the most extreme measures against those who defied its authority, so that it may now be said that Newfoundland is at war with France, Britain and Canada and has a civil war on its hands besides. But the worst feature of the case is that the friendship of the United States which Newfoundland is courting so successfully means the advancement of United States interests at the expense of those of Newfoundland; or in other words the destruction of its fisheries and the ruin of its chief industry. No doubt the Newfoundland question is a difficult one and the people are as difficult as the question, but the present situation reflects little credit on the alleged statesmanship of either Lord Salisbury or Sir John A. Macdonald, who have each taken such an active part in augmenting rather than allaying the difficulty.

NOTICE.

Having purchased the interest of A. Macdonald in the business heretofore carried on under the firm name of A. Macdonald & Co. as general merchants, I would take this opportunity of returning thanks to the citizens of Edmonton and surrounding country for the very liberal patronage extended to the late firm for the past ten years and would solicit a continuance of the same. No effort will be spared on my part to supply the best goods at the lowest possible living prices.

MOTION OF CONDOLENCE.

At a meeting of the Edmonton board of trade held in Messrs. Lafferty & Moore's bank on the 7th of May, 1891, the president John Cameron in the chair, it was moved by W. Johnstone Walker seconded by A. D. Osborne and unanimously agreed to "That the secretary be instructed to record in the minutes of the society the loss sustained by the removal by death of an esteemed member of the board viz Mr. P. V. Gauvreau, and also to communicate the sympathy of the board to Mrs. Gauvreau under her heavy bereavement."

UNEXPECTED DEATH.

Dr. Jos. Potvin died on Tuesday last after a short illness of six days. His friends never anticipated such a demise. He was a useful citizen and had won a very enviable reputation as a physician. Deceased was born in Baie St. Paul, in the province of Quebec, studied at the Ecole Normale in the city of Quebec and at the Laval university there. He graduated at the Cobourg university, Montreal. He came from British Columbia to Edmonton about four years ago. At his death he was about 45 years of age. The funeral took place on Thursday last. A service was held at the Roman Catholic church here and his remains were taken to St. Albert cemetery where, after a libera chanted in the cathedral, they were deposited in his last abode. The pall-bearers were: E. Carey, Geo. Roy, P. Daly, J. H. Picard, A. F. Degagne and X. St. Jean. A large number of friends attended the funeral.

FROM DAKOTA.

A. McLAY and son, J. Walsh and John Molitor, of Bottineau county, North Dakota, arrived on Thursday afternoon with oxen, wagons and a large outfit of settlers' effects. Mr. McLAY visited Edmonton last summer and took a homestead, near the Horse hill. On his return to Bottineau his favorable representation of the attractions of the Edmonton district were so effective that the large immigration of settlers from North Dakota, now in progress resulted. Not without some personal loss and risk to Mr. McLAY, however, who was in danger of bodily injury for a time. Mr. McLAY's family will come when the C. & E. railway is finished. Mr. Hettinger of Bottineau, who was here in March is now on the way, accompanied by two sons a daughter and a son-in-law. He has several car loads of effects. Two Messrs. Hammond are also on the way and two Messrs. Clark whose homesteads are already located. Two other Clarks, have taken land at Little Red Deer for stock raising purposes. The present spring has been the most favorable known in Dakota for some years, but people have to a great extent lost courage and faith in the country, and the completion of the railway will almost certainly see a still larger movement towards Edmonton.

THE Regina Leader thinks there is a lively fight going on between Edmonton and Fort Saskatchewan for the terminus of the C. & E. railway. The Leader may make its mind easy. There is no fight lively or otherwise. The road was chartered to Edmonton for sufficient reasons and to Edmonton is where every person in this district expects it will come. That it may be extended at an early date to and far beyond Fort Saskatchewan in an easterly direction is quite possible and very desirable, just as its extension due north to Athabasca Landing, northwest to Peace river and west to the Jasper pass of the Rockies is also possible and desirable. Edmonton is not at the end of all things in this Northwest. It is at the gateway of a larger empire than is now constituted by the combined districts of Alberta, Assiniboia and Saskatchewan—namely the Great Mackenzie basin.

REPORTED that 50 grading teams are to be put at work on the C. & E. grade on Boggy plain about 25 miles south of Edmonton with a view of getting the work done there while the ground is dry. The earth there, it is thought, will be difficult to work if wet.

As the C. & E. company will only be responsible for freight in car lots, and as only a short time is allowed consignees in which to get the cars unloaded, many people are compelled still to get their freight by wagon from Calgary.
